

CONTEXT

A JOURNAL OF MUSIC RESEARCH

Number 19 (Spring 2000)

SPECIAL CONFERENCE ISSUE

Articles in this issue of Context are based on papers presented at the conference 'Music's Audience: Reading and Listening to Music in Australia and England, 1880–1930,' held at the University of Melbourne, 12–13 August 2000.

Articles

Voice, Speech and Accent in England (and Australia?). Stephen Banfield	5
Editing the Diaries of F.S. Kelly: Unique Insights into an Expatriate's Musical Career. Thérèse Radic	19
Crossing a Divide? Maud Fitz-Stubbs as Amateur then Professional Musician in Late Nineteenth-Century Sydney. Jennifer Hill	35
'A Captive Audience:' Musical Concerts in Queensland Mental Institutions c.1870–c.1930. Dolly MacKinnon	43
Music at an Exhibition: A Case Study of the Tasmanian International Exhibition, 1894–1895. Anne-Marie Forbes	57
Cranks and Criminals: BBC Music Programming and British Audiences, 1922–1939. Megan Prictor	65
'Enriched with the Englishman's Harmony:' Reading the History of Anglican Church Music. Suzanne Cole	73
Changing with the Times: Ethel Smyth's Operatic Odyssey. Elizabeth Kertesz	81
Issues in the English Critical Reception of The Three-Cornered Hat . Michael Christoforidis	87
Notes on Contributors	95
Guidelines for Contributors	96